Plagiarism: Students are required to submit their own work for assessment. The presentation of someone else's work, words, or ideas as one's own is plagiarism and therefore unacceptable. Plagiarism can be deliberate or accidental. Whenever students use the words or ideas of another person in their work, they must acknowledge where it is originally taken from. Various forms of plagiarism include, but not limited to:

- Downloading or copying any materials/ideas or part of it from an online source and submitting it as your own work without acknowledging.
- Buying, stealing, or borrowing any materials/ideas and submitting it as students' own work.

Collusion is an understanding or agreement between two or more people to intentionally cooperate to gain an unfair advantage in assessment and may include:

- Unauthorised and unacknowledged joint authorship in an assessment task
- Unauthorised and unacknowledged copying or use of material prepared by another person for use in assessment.

Cheating is to act dishonestly or unfairly to gain advantage. It can also be defined as completing an assessment without a student's own effort and getting someone else to do the work. This is not an acceptable practice and will affect the progression of the course.

Cheating during an exam means breaking any examination rules and regulations. At the beginning of the exam the invigilator will inform the students of the applicable rules and regulations. Students must listen carefully to these instructions. Cheating is often, but not limited to:

- Bringing unauthorised material into an exam;
- Having access to unauthorised written notes or equipment in any form during the exam;
- Communicating with others during the exam by any means; or
- Copying or reading someone else's work during the exam.
